INTRODUCTION

This directory contains details of counselling services in Kingston. Most services provide short term counselling for individuals with common mental disorders such as depression or anxiety and the majority are for adults. Some services are for individuals with particular needs; these are described in each entry. These are provided by a range of statutory, voluntary organisations and private businesses.

Services for children and young people include the Emotional health Service, Relate and the Islamic Resource centre as well as services for students at the College and University.

Services for older people include Staywell.

Costs

iCope and the Emotional health Service are free services providing psychological therapies. Some other services are also free, others charge on a sliding scale depending on income.

Languages

A number of services have members of staff who speak different languages. Kingston Interpreting Service (KIS) is also available; this needs to be arranged by the counselling service or a GP and there is a charge. Services can contact KIS on Telephone: 020 8547 5822 / Email: kis@kingston.gov.uk

Serious mental illnesses

Individuals with more serious mental illnesses should contact their GPs about a referral to South West London and St George's mental health trust.

Crisis

Anyone in crisis because of their mental health should contact the Mental Health Support Line on 0800 028 8000 (5pm- 9am Mon to Fri, 24 hours Sat and Sun) or the Samaritans on 020 8399 6676.

Self help

Kingston libraries have a collection of self-help books for managing common conditions, including anxiety, stress, sleep problems, phobias and depression. There are different collections for different age groups.

INTRODUCTION (CONTINUED)

Other support available

Many of the organisations listed in this directory also provide a range of other support e.g. help with benefits, housing and employment, parenting as well as peer support groups.
